<sup>2</sup> A bond fund's yield, share price and total return change daily and are based on changes in interest rates, market conditions, economic and political news, and the quality and maturity of its investments. In general, bond prices fall when interest rates rise and vice versa.

<sup>3</sup> In January 2013, the manager of the U.S. Bond Index Fund was changed to Mellon Capital Management. The objectives, index, and benchmark remained the same.

<sup>4</sup> Certain underlying funds invest in Treasury inflation-protected securities (TIPS). Unlike conventional bonds, the principal or interest of TIPS is adjusted periodically to a specified rate of inflation (e.g., Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers [CPI-U]). There can be no assurance that the inflation index used will accurately measure the actual rate of inflation.

<sup>5</sup> Foreign investments involve special risks, including currency fluctuations, taxation differences, and political developments. Equity securities of companies located in emerging markets involve greater risks than investments in more established markets, including currency fluctuations, political developments, and share illiquidity.

<sup>6</sup> In January 2012, the manager of the DC equity funds was changed to Mellon Capital Management. The objectives, indices, and benchmarks of the three equity funds involved remained the same relative to their respective funds.

Asset Allocation Funds<sup>1</sup>

Retirement Date Funds - The funds seek to provide for retirement outcomes consistent with investor preferences throughout the savings and drawdown phase based on quantitatively measured risk that investors, on average, may be willing to accept. The funds will be diversified across global asset classes, with allocations changing over the investment horizon to become more heavily oriented toward debt and debt-like securities, on the premise that individuals investing for retirement desire to reduce investment risk in their retirement accounts as their retirement date approaches. The date in a target date fund's name is the approximate date when investors are expected to start withdrawing their money (generally assumed to be at age 65). The principal value of the fund(s) is not guaranteed at any time, including at the time of the target date and/or withdrawal.
